PRESS RELEASE

WALLBOUNCE AND EOS AIRLINES LINK TO SERVE THE DISCERNING TRAVELER

(November 3, 2005; New York, NY) EOS Airlines, the new airline for the discerning traveler, links with Wallbounce, the premier provider of experiences for the Discerning Consumer.

EOS was founded on a simple idea: that an airline could know its customers well enough to become a true specialist, offering a superior travel experience at a competitive price. Flights began between New York and London on October 18, 2005.

The experience is an all-premium business class airline promising something similar to a private corporate jet (with only 48 seats per plane compared to the typical 150 seats on a 757), and beds that fold flat, you will have a transcontinental flight experience unlike any other...visit www.eosairlines.com.

Tonight, the airline has an experience for 48 special members to hear the music of international music superstar, Sting.

Wallbounce is privileged to link with this airline and expect to see many unique experiences offered to our members in the next few months from EOS Airlines and Wallbounce.
