

Published - June, 15, 2006

To Dad

Here are some fun gift ideas for Father's Day

Sloane Stephens Cox
@PensacolaNewsJournal.com

Maybe he buys the groceries. Maybe he prepares the meals. Or maybe he simply shows his appreciation when gobbling down the food that you and mom spent all day cooking.

Whatever dad's duties, doesn't he deserve more than a tie for Father's Day?

Honor the special man in your life with a special gift. Popular presents include special outings, books, electronics or computer-related accessories and home-improvement or gardening tools, according to the National Retail Federation.

Check out my top-10 picks:

Baseball. Fulfill a baseball enthusiast's "field of dreams" by giving him a trip to the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y. A Web site called Wallbounce.com is rounding up 48 baseball fans for a trip from Oct. 6 to 11. It will include a private behind-the-scenes tour with the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum and a private dinner and golfing with Hall of Fame players. Trip starts at $7995. Details: (800) 677-4306.