PENNSYLVANIA ASSISTED LIVING ASSOCIATION

The Pennsylvania Assisted Living Association (PALA) is a professional not-for-profit trade association representing Personal Care Home and Assisted Living Residences in Pennsylvania that vary in size from small owners to large state and national corporations. PALA is recognized as an association dedicated to helping Personal Care Home and Assisted Living Providers address relevant issues and challenges as they arise in the emerging industry.

Our Mission Statement

PALA provides education, and advocacy with our sole purpose of raising awareness through education of the public, private, regulatory, and legislative sectors.

What We Do

One of PALA's primary objectives is to provide a unified voice of the Homes and Residences we represent and the residents these Homes/Residents serve by advocating for informed choice, quality care, and accessibility for seniors residing in the Commonwealth.

The relationships PALA has developed with the Department of Public Welfare – Bureau of Human Services Licensing, and Standing Committees in the House and Senate allow PALA to maintain open lines of communication on regulatory and legislative issues affecting the industry.

What We Can Do Together

PALA's membership allows for the recognition of different types of homes within the same industry to be represented by the only trade association dedicated exclusively to representing this very special residential care alternative. PALA provides a legislative voice in Harrisburg and our national affiliate – The Assisted Living Federation of America (ALFA) – carries the concerns of our members to the Nation's Capital.
